Calvary has become a system-level provider whose funding needs a better shape and a deeper cushion, not a smaller share.

The verdict

Public funding at about half of revenue is typical for DC peers (53% FY22–24, 11th of 19).

- The shape is the issue: three streams, two through TCP, which carries 78% of the $4.1M 2024 award base.
- Private grants have held near $1M a year from the same funders, and one partner is 27%.
- FY25: −$607K and 4.4 months of cash (7.5 in FY21), while event receipts held near $0.5M.

Clouds: a cut is proposed every spring (restored twice, FY27 mostly one-time), losing the DHS/TCP contract would cost about $0.65–1.13M, and the audits show CoC draw-down well below awards.

- Rating: moderate-to-high pressure from concentration and liquidity, not from the share.

The top opportunities

Draw every awarded dollar, CoC first, and confirm the DHS and Sisters Rise contracts with TCP (day 30).

Deepen current partners: multi-year asks to Cafritz (Mar 1 / Jul 1 / Nov 1) and Fowler, two GWCF conversations (Health Equity Fund successor, core support), and steward Abell (day 45–60).

Open doors through peers: an introduction to Schattner, which funds four peers and works by invitation, once the peer set is confirmed (day 90).

Start a named major-gifts / DAF program (peers raise 40–50% of filed grants via DAFs, Calvary 25%).

Formalize workforce and behavioral health: $30M and $21M a year of nearby DMV grant pools, without changing the mission.

Headline recommendations and next steps

A six-month reserve target (~$2.8M) and a plan to close the FY25 gap in the FY26 budget.

An annual advocacy and monitoring calendar for the spring budget season, with monthly draw-down tracking.

A private-revenue goal of ~$3M within three years, bringing the public share to about half at flat public funding.

- Next come your reactions, then the FY24–25 audits and the TCP subgrant agreements, then a working session to turn the nine Tier 1 targets into assignments.
- What follows: the leadership deck (22 content slides), the consulting deck (66 slides), appendix decks A–D, and four reports.

Implication: Calvary has built the case, and the next five years need the public base fully drawn, the private base deeper, and a cushion for the spring.
